JOINT STIPULATION TO EXTEND THE LIMITED STAY OF DEPOSITIONS

The United States seeks to extend the limited stay of depositions pertaining to the list of individuals provided to counsel for the parties and the Court on November 19, 2020. In recognition of the fact that the United States has removed eleven individuals from the list, Plaintiffs have agreed, in the interest of compromise, to participate in this joint stipulation with the United States without prejudice to Plaintiffs' right to oppose extension of this stay in the future. The United States understands that Teva Pharmaceuticals USA, Inc. ("Teva") intends to file a motion to add seven additional individuals to the scope of the stay. The United States does not seek to add those individuals to the list, but otherwise takes no position on that motion. The Plaintiffs will object to the motion. Accordingly,

IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED by and between the parties that the Court enter the attached proposed order, as appropriate, to extend the limited stay of depositions pertaining to the list of individuals provided to counsel for the parties and the Court on November 19, 2020.

In the interim, extending the limited stay will have no meaningful impact on the advancement of discovery. Notably, under the proposed order, the parties may notice depositions for individuals who are not included on the above-mentioned list (subject to the Court's ruling on Teva's motion), and may meet and confer as necessary so that those depositions can begin promptly according to the Court's scheduling order.

IT IS SO STIPULATED.
